TURNING A PAGE

Bradley Skinner, principal architect with Skinner & Skinner Architects, of London, presented the initial plans for the Bayfield Public Library to about 40 citizens, some representing organizations like the Bayfield Historical Society and Archives and the newly formed Friends of the Bayfield Library, on the morning of July 9 at the Bayfield Community Centre. In addition to a new home for stacks of books, the plans include much desired space to offer library programs, public washrooms and post office boxes. A closer look at the plans for the Bayfield Public Library will be featured in an upcoming issue of the Bayfield Breeze. (Photo by Melody Falconer-Pounder)

CAR SHOW

Back in the winter a schoolmate approached Isaac Van Aaken, 13, about trying out for a part in a community play to be held in St. Joseph, ON in July. Isaac thought it sounded like it might be something fun to do in the summer. His, younger brother, Nigel, 9, thought he might as well try out too because if his brother got a part he'd have to go along to the practices anyway.

And so it came to be that following February auditions the boys were cast as the same character but at different stages of his life. In addition, they play the part of extras in a variety of scenes from members of parliament to workers in a brickworks.

Nigel portrays, the younger version of Jean Cantin, one of Narcisse Cantin's sons, during life in Buffalo, NY. Isaac is an older version of Jean at the time of the family's arrival in St. Joseph.

The brothers are among over 50 other actors staging "Narcisse" a new play about St. Joseph by playwright Paul Ciufo, of Grand Bend. Duncan McGregor is directing this outdoor theatre experience.

The St. Joseph and Area Historical Society will present 10 performances of the production from July 19-30.

The play is the story of Narcisse Cantin, founder of St. Joseph, who was born in 1870. Of French Canadian descent, it was his dream to build a canal from Lake Huron to Lake Erie that would serve as a transportation center. Fulfillment of his dream depended upon government approval and its subsidies for the canal.

The website created for the production states that while petitioning the government for its help, Cantin acquired land and proceeded to plan a town site to include several hundred residential lots and streets for palatial homes. He built a three-story hotel, named it "Balmoral," and attracted businesses that included an organ factory, a winery, a brickworks, and other essential stores to serve the community. He also enticed a number of French Canadian families living in Chicago to move to the new town of St. Joseph.

For a while, the town experienced growth and there were signs things would go as planned. However, fate intervened in the form of WWI and there were no funds for the canal. Thus ended the dream of Narcisse Cantin and the prospects for St. Joseph. The three-story Balmoral Hotel was demolished in 1920 without ever having a guest.

Both Isaac and Nigel have taken part in weekly rehearsals since the end of March but now as opening night draws near they are attending daily two-hour practices. These rehearsals have moved from local halls to the large outdoor stage set up on the grounds of St. Peter's Catholic Church, on Hwy. 21, 1.6 KM north of St. Joseph. Both Cantin, and his wife Josephine, are reported to have been married in the church and a number of people depicted in the play are buried in the cemetery located there.

As cast members the boys have three costume changes and in one scene they will even be sporting moustaches, which they seem to think is good fun.

Isaac noted that, "the fight scene is brutal". He reportedly gets punched in the stomach and lifted overhead. He also acknowledged that learning how a fight scene comes together and how to fall safely was really interesting.

Nigel said, "The hard part for me is to stop laughing in a scene when I'm supposed to."

Both boys also enjoyed learning several songs in French. The musical numbers that are performed are done in French as a reflection on the community's cultural heritage.

The boys have also learned a lot about local history as well as a bit about their own family tree as they discovered that their mother, Leigh Anne, had a great uncle who was married to a Cantin.

Tickets for "Narcisse" are available by calling toll free to the Blyth Festival Box Office 1-877-862-5984. There will be 10 performances from July 19-30 (the stage will be dark July 24-25); Tuesdays to Fridays the show begins at 6 p.m., Saturdays, 6:30 p.m. Tickets are $20 for adults and $12 for children 16 years and under. Seating is general admission on a first come first served basis, the grounds open at 4:30 p.m. on performance days.

ENVIRONMENTAL MILESTONE TO BE CELEBRATED ON JULY 21

A celebration of four decades of Bayfield River Watershed stewardship will be held on July 21 at the Bayfield Community Centre and all in the community are welcome to join in the festivities.

Almost 40 years ago, the Province of Ontario, with support of local municipalities, expanded the area of the former Ausable River Conservation Authority to include the Bayfield River Watershed and some smaller streams draining into Lake Huron. The Lieutenant Governor of Ontario of that time, The Honorable William Ross Macdonald, approved the Order-in-Council on July 21, 1971.

Ausable Bayfield Conservation Authority (ABCA) invites everyone to attend this anniversary event to honor this environmental milestone. A social time with the service of light refreshments will begin at 6:45 p.m., followed by a short formal presentation starting at 7 p.m. The event will conclude with cake.

The evening will feature a major local announcement related to the protection of the Bayfield River Watershed. The anniversary's theme is honoring achievements of the past, today's progress and positive plans for the future. Anyone interested in attending is invited to RSVP by July 15 to Jessica Schnaithmann at ABCA either by email at jschnaithmann@abca.on.ca, or by calling 519 235-2610 or toll-free 1-888-286-2610.

"Protection and improvement of the Bayfield River Watershed is taking place because landowners and residents are getting involved," said Jim Ginn, chairman of the ABCA Board of Directors. "This celebration of four decades of Bayfield River Watershed stewardship is a chance to share some positive news about future efforts to protect and improve the watershed and also to thank the public for their positive actions so far."

Earlier that same day, the ABCA Board of Directors will hold their monthly meeting in Bayfield to honor the board meeting of 40 years ago. This board meeting will take place at the Bayfield Lions' Community Building at 3:30 p.m. and is also open to the public. Please contact Judith Parker at jparker@abca.on.ca or phone ABCA at the numbers listed above for more information.

Last year, the Municipality of Bluewater printed a pamphlet that explains the program. This highly recognized program is not just about floral displays. It promotes environmental responsibility and beautification through community participation and friendly competition!

The judging criteria is based on eight categories: tidiness, environmental awareness, community involvement, natural and cultural heritage, tree/urban forest management, landscaped areas, floral displays, turf and groundcovers.

The color scheme for this year's "Bluewater Blooms" is red, purple, pink and blue. People will notice these colors in planters on the streets of Hensall, Zurich and Bayfield.

In conjunction with the judges' visit, the Municipality of Bluewater Communities in Bloom Committee, will be holding an open house at the Bayfield Community Centre on the evening of July 21 from 7-9 p.m.

Comas are a band firmly rooted in Irish music, but with enough space to allow in original compositions. Formed in 2003 the four members have performed together all across Europe and following their week at the Celtic Festival will be touring in the Eastern United States.

Translated from the Irish/Gaelic their name means power, Comas is said to be at the forefront of what traditional music is about today.

KNOX CHURCH

The fish will be frying on July 30th when the congregation of Knox Presbyterian Church holds their first annual Fish Fry at the Bayfield Community Centre.

The meal will be served from 4:30-7 p.m. Two salads, tomatoes, rolls, and a baked potato are sure to compliment the Lake Huron white fish. Delectable homemade desserts will finish things off nicely.

Tickets are $17 for adults; and $10 for children 11 years and under. Take-out will also be available. For

The conservation authority assumed additional responsibility for the Bayfield River Watershed in 1971. The area also included all other streams entering Lake Huron from the point where the north boundary of the former Ausable River Conservation Authority met the shore of Lake Huron to the point where the north boundary of the village of Bayfield meets the shore of Lake Huron. Bayfield River Watershed is in the northern part of the ABCA's area. The basin includes almost 500 square KMs beginning north of Dublin and out letting at the Village of Bayfield.

The Bayfield River Watershed celebration is being hosted at the Bayfield Community Centre in cooperation with the Municipality of Bluewater Communities in Bloom Committee, which is holding an open house there on the evening of July 21 from 7-9 p.m.

Teens from Youth Unlimited spent part of Serve Week, July 1-8, at Trinity Anglican Church in Bayfield helping the congregation with tasks from steam cleaning carpets and chairs to painting.

Youth Unlimited was established in 1919 as the American Federation of Reformed Young Men's Society and has since evolved and grown into an avenue of service for churches with junior and senior high youth groups across North America.

Pastor Sieman Speelman, of the Vanastra Community Christian Reform Church, coordinated Serve Week in Huron County. The youth and leaders who helped out for four days in Bayfield hailed from different parts of Canada and the United States with many being from Ontario.

This year Serve Week took on a different twist. In the past they have found work sites through local churches, thrift stores and various agencies in the area. This year they added other outside organizations such as the Huron County Food Banks, Soup & More, Christian Business Missions of Huron, and Habitat for Humanity.

"We got involved through Terry Boa-Youmatoff's connection with the Huron County Food Bank, Feed My Sheep, at Trinity Anglican Church. She was at a food bank meeting where it was discussed that any facility that houses the program would be eligible for the visiting students' efforts. We submitted a list of possible tasks and were accepted into the program," said Olga Palmer, a member of the Trinity congregation. "On our part we took turns hosting the group, making sure they had lots of refreshments. Our warden, Philip Keightley, was our coordinator and many others enjoyed spending time at the church with the enthusiastic and hard working group!"

tickets please call 519 565-2435, or email ggrant@tcc.on.ca, or consult any member of the Knox Church congregation.

PHOTOS AND STORY BY MELODY FALCONER-POUNDER

The Bayfield Arena doors opened on the 64th annual Pioneer Park Rummage Sale on July 8 and the people flooded in to shop the many bargains to be had. Everything from wicker baskets to board games was available to be purchased at incredibly good prices.

The silent auction table was also active with many people trying their luck at items and services donated by area individuals and businesses. All the profits from the evening go toward the upkeep of Bayfield's beautiful Pioneer Park.

People lined the length of Agriculture Park ready to enter the Bayfield Arena for the 64th Annual Pioneer Park Rummage Sale. And at the same time, there were even more people browsing through the items displayed outdoors on the skateboard pad.

A large number of folks came out for the 64th Annual Pioneer Park Rummage Sale held on the evening of July 8 at the Bayfield Community Centre. The fundraiser is held each year in support of the village's only lakeside park, Pioneer Park.

So what time do you have to arrive to be first in line at the Pioneer Park Rummage Sale? Joan and Stew Ibele, of Zurich, wouldn't say officially but they definitely were ready to shop when the clock struck 7 p.m.

And said park is going to be a very active place over the remaining summer months with both fundraising activities and family fun in the works.

For two Saturdays in July as dusk settles over this lakeside park a film will be shown under the stars. Families are encouraged to bring lawn chairs and blankets to cuddle up and watch Tangled, on July 16 and Despicable Me on July 30. Movies-in-the-Park will return in August with the movie Enchanted on Aug. 13 and something for the older crowd set for Aug. 27 when the classic Rocky Horror Picture Show will be presented.

The ever popular 5 KM Fun Run, Walk and Roll is scheduled for Aug. 1st. Please contact Ann Laudenbach for more info at 519 565-2733.

A new event for families, entitled Art in the Park, will be held on Aug. 6th followed by the Annual General Meeting of the Pioneer Park Association at 10 a.m. on Aug. 13.

Allie Ferguson, 4, of Brantford, was looking to add to her vinyl record collection.

After the shopping, the Service family visiting from Thailand took some time to enjoy cookies purchased at the Bake Table as well as take a closer look at their new treasures. Dad Robert, Holly and Crawford stated they all enjoyed their rummage sale experience.

The area of the arena filled with toys and games was a popular stop among shoppers.

Joan Caldwell received some assistance from volunteer Joyce Scotchmer while shopping in the Christmas section of the sale.

Volunteer, Mary Lou Beechie, of Bayfield, was kept busy in the section selling baskets and tins.

The Bake Table is always a popular place to purchase a sweet treat after all shopping can work up an appetite.

Aidhan and his Dad, Marty Kleuskens, of Goderich, examine one of the many small appliances available for purchase.

David Loerchner, of Bayfield, made a purchase in the kitchen section of the sale.

PHOTOS AND STORY BY MELODY FALCONER-POUNDER

Around mid-day on July 9 members of the Bayfield Optimist Club held their annual Children's Play Day extravaganza. Held on the lawn behind the Bayfield Town Hall, it was a day filled with good old-fashioned fun for children. And organizers were pleased to report that attendance was up slightly over last year.

Magician Daniel Steep, of Clinton, delighted the audience with his magic show and amazed everyone with his quick dexterity in making fantastic balloon creatures and hats. Jennifer Black, of Goderich, had the youngsters lined up for an opportunity to have their faces painted.

The members of the Bayfield Optimist Club held their annual Children's Play Day on the lawn behind the Bayfield Town Hall mid-day on July 9. Magician Daniel Steep of Clinton entertained the crowd with his very entertaining magical style. He also delighted the youngsters with his stellar balloon creations.

Parachute games were also an activity at the Optimist Club of Bayfield's annual Children's Play Day.

Audience participation is an important part of any magic show.

Plus there were crafts, games and races also on the docket.

And once the Bayfield Firemen cleaned up from their annual breakfast a fire truck was parked on the lawn for youngsters to tour.

All this frivolity definitely worked up some appetites – more than 11 dozen hotdogs were served up hot from the barbecue.

The Children's Play Day is a free event run annually by the members of the Bayfield Optimist Club as a thank you to the community for their ongoing support. The club is now in the planning stages for what could possibly be their biggest fundraiser ever. Their Bids 4 Kids Dinner and Auction is planned for Oct. 1 at the Stanley Complex.

Two year-old, Caroline Hetherton, of Grimsby, took the magic show very seriously but her mother, Erin, could see the humor behind the performance.

Fatima Palacios, of Bayfield, took the prize for the tallest balloon hat of the day.

Drying masks decorated the craft tent at the Bayfield Optimist Club's annual Children's Play Day held on Saturday.

Two year-old Beatrice Gundy, of Toronto, requested a bumlebee be painted on her face by the very talented Jennifer Black of Goderich.

Hawksley and Aven Morgan, of Clinton, along with Ella Roat, of North Bay, played close attention to Daniel Steep as he twisted balloons into fabulous creatures and hats.

There was a line up for the always popular face painting activity, luckily it was near the hot dog station so youngsters could have a snack while they patiently waited their turn.

Paper Masks were the must make craft at this year's Children's Play Day. Kylah Stephens, of Kitchener was very intent on both painting and stamping her creation.

Sunset in Bayfield - there really isn't anything much better. I can't see the lake from my office window but I can see the sky. Tonight the sun casts an ever changing color palette on the clouds. It starts in shades of orange then moves to soft reds, then hews of violet. Then as the sun sinks toward the water, the colors become more intense - crimson, followed by vibrant pinks. Every few seconds the sky offers up a different picture. The cliffside trees, heavy with leaves, are outlined in black on this colorful background. The view from my window is simply inspiring. It beckons me to move past the glass and out into the evening air. Hope you can make the time to do the same! - Melody
