HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The core of a great community is having all ages working together to keep the roots of the community alive and well. For this reason, the Bayfield Arena Community Partner Association (BACPA) and Bayfield Agricultural Society (BAS) have partnered for the 2016 Bayfield Community Fair and Parade.

Members of the BAS and the BACPA met recently for the official handing over of the parade duty book. So that as new organizers the members of the BACPA will have pages of knowledge to draw from for the annual parade held on the Saturday morning of fair weekend in August.

Jentje Steenbeek, president of the BAS said, “The BACPA is doing a lot of great things in our community and working together with groups like them is one of the keys to the ongoing success of the Community Fair and Parade.”

Bayfield with its great mix of youth, family, seniors and retirees is a prime example of how working together is great for present and future events.

Ron Keys chair of BACPA also commented, “One of the roots of Bayfield has been the Agricultural Society and their Community Fair and Parade, and as such the BACP recognizes the importance of supporting organizations and taking on new roles where they may not be normally considered in their own organization. Working together is key to the sustainability of the community and events. We are excited about organizing the parade this year."

SHOW EXPERTS CAN MAKE HOME AND GARDEN DREAMS COME TRUE

Make Sure to attend the Bayfield Lions’ Club’s 19th Annual Home and Garden Show at the Bayfield Arena and Community Centre, this weekend Apr. 22-24. There are more than 65 exhibitors this year displaying their newest products, technologies and services.

This is a great opportunity for area residents to get to know their local product and service providers. Also new this year will be displays by local volunteer service and interest groups. Come and see their displays and consider joining in their activities and taking an active role in the community.

Admission is free. The show is open Friday, 5-9 p.m.; Saturday, 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. The public is encouraged to bring a non-perishable food item that will be donated to the local Bayfield Food Bank (Feed My Sheep).

Attendees at the show will also have a chance to win some fabulous door prizes, a BBQ donated by Bayfield Garage, food baskets and gift certificates from Bayfield Foodland, and gift certificates to local restaurants donated by Royal LePage. Other highlights of the event include face painting for children and a food court featuring beverages, snacks and delicious lunches at modest prices.

The Home Show is also working with the Dream Home lottery – encouraging visitors to the Home and Garden Show to also visit the Dream Home on Cameron Street. And vice versa, Dream Home visitors will be directed to visit the Home and Garden Show. Parking is available for both events in the Agricultural Fair Grounds.

The Bayfield Lions’ Club organizes and runs the Home and Garden Show every year as well as many other annual fundraising events including the Lions’ Breakfast in May, Walk for Dog Guides in June, Bayfield Calendar launch in July, a Lions’ Golf Tournament in September, a Fishing Derby in October, and a Turkey Bingo in December. Last year Bayfield Lions raised over $40,000 from these events that were reinvested in the community to fund local projects such as the new washroom in Clan Gregor Square, youth and elder programs, environmental projects and persons and families in need. The Lions’ Club also runs its own building providing meeting rooms at modest prices for childcare, local clubs, associations and interest groups.

EARTH DAY FOCUSES ON BOTH LOCAL AND GLOBAL ENVIRONMENT

David Yates will be the guest speaker at the next meeting of the Bayfield Historical Society (BHS) on April 25. His topic is “Grand Hotels of Goderich”.

In 2014, he was a member of the Great Lakes Storm of 1913 committee that won the Governor-General's Award for Community History Programming. More recently, that is in May of 2015, he was the Huron Arts and Heritage Network award winner for Individual Contributor to Heritage.

All who attend will certainly learn something interesting and new about our neighboring community to the north. All are welcome to attend at the Bayfield Lion’s Community Building 7:30 p.m. Refreshments will follow the presentation.

OWL PROWL

Families are invited to take an exciting moonlit, guided hike on Apr. 23 at 8 p.m. and learn about owls and their amazing nocturnal adaptations. Explore owl habitat, try owl calls and (if really lucky) maybe see one of these amazing birds.

The Eastern Screech Owl is this area’s most common owl. Its habitat ranges from woods to urban areas. This small owl is a cavity nester. It makes use of large bird boxes and cavities created by other animals, as well as natural cavities.

A special guest from Ausable Bayfield Conservation Authority will call out the owls during the Owl Prowl. Participants are asked to bring a flashlight, wear warm clothing and proper footwear! Hot chocolate will be served at the end of the hike. Donations are welcome to cover expenses.

The Sawmill Trail features a range of historical and natural points of interest. Naturalists will enjoy the

The Bayfield River Valley Trail Association (BRVTA) invites the community to celebrate Earth Day on Apr. 22 with two special Earth Day events that focus on both local and global environmental concerns.

The Second Annual Earth Day Litter Walk will begin at 1 p.m. at Clan Gregor Square in Bayfield. Walkers can check in with organizers at the pavilion, where they will choose their own route or area and be given bags to collect garbage and recycling as they walk. Filled bags should be returned to the park. The garbage will be picked up there for disposal by the municipality.

Last year over 50 volunteers participated in gathering up litter from streets and public lands throughout Bayfield. Those wishing to participate should dress for the weather and wear their own work gloves. They can sign up to collect garbage anytime between 1-4 p.m.

Groups and local organizations are also urged to participate, by encouraging their members to come out on Earth Day to clean up the parks and public areas in our community. The last of the melting snow always reveals a disturbing amount of garbage on local highways and byways, but the concerned residents of Bayfield can be applauded for tackling this problem through what is becoming an annual ‘spring cleaning’ by local volunteers.

Shop Bike Coffee Roasters, 11 Main Street N. in Bayfield, is proudly sponsoring the Earth Day Litter Walk by donating 50 cents from every cup of coffee or tea sold during the entire day to the BRVTA.

And then later that same evening, the BRVTA is hosting a special screening of the documentary “This Changes Everything”.

This game changing and provocative film by Avi Lewis premiered at the 2015 Toronto International Film Festival and is based on the critically acclaimed best seller by award-winning journalist Naomi Klein. She changed the global conversation on climate change by asking the question, “What if confronting the climate crisis is the best chance we’ll ever get to build a better world?”

The film recently aired on CBC. It was shot in nine countries over four years, and presents seven powerful portraits of communities on the front lines of both fossil fuel extraction and the climate crisis it is driving. Going beyond simply exposing and criticizing this looming global crisis, Lewis and Klein propose a call to action for a new future. Their hope is that through community viewings of the film, the public will become engaged in conversation and dialogue about the crucial issue.

The film builds to a controversial and exciting idea: that we can seize the existential crisis of climate change to transform our failed economic system into something radically better. Whether you agree with their proposal or not, the film promises to be a thought provoking and controversial conversation starter for Earth Day.

“This Changes Everything” will be screened at St. Andrew’s United Church in Bayfield, beginning at 7:30 p.m. on Apr. 22. Admission is by free will donation, with all proceeds going towards BRVTA re-forestation projects on local trails.

FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE

So just who was Florence Nightingale?

Those who attend the Bayfield Historical Society (BHS) meeting on May 16 will have the opportunity to learn the answer to that question as speaker and author Lynn McDonald will share her vast knowledge of this historical figure at a special evening to be held at the Bayfield Town Hall.

Nightingale is remembered most as being the founder of modern nursing, and less well known for midwifery education, but she also left a broader unsung legacy as an environmentalist, social scientist, reformer, feminist, statistician and general force of nature.

Guest Speaker McDonald may be considered a force of nature in her own right. She has written the definitive 16 vol. “Collective Works of Florence Nightingale” and is a recipient of “The Order of Canada”. As a former MP, McDonald introduced the bill leading to banning smoking in public places and to regulation of tobacco advertising. Co-founder of “Just Earth” a coalition for Environmental Justice she continues her activities for truth, justice and the Canadian way.

THE ASHWOOD INN

COMMUNITY COMES TOGETHER FOR RENEGADES

Apr. 16 was a day for community and friendship when villagers rallied around Wayne McDougall and Paula Foley, (pictured on right) co-owners of Renegades Diner in Bayfield, whose restaurant was damaged do to a flooding incident following a severe storm on March 28. Pete Meades and Kirsten Harrett organized the fundraiser and held the event at the The Ashwood Inn. All the money generated from the sale of Steam Whistle Ale that day went to the cause.

Karen Ratcliffe (left) and Sandy Scotchmer (middle) were among the many people that visited The Ashwood Inn on a sunny Saturday afternoon to check out the myriad of items available at the Silent Auction.

PHOTOS AND STORY BY MELODY FALCONER-POUNDER

Following in the footsteps of such fundraising events as Band-Aid and Live-Aid, “Reneg-Aid” was held in Bayfield on Apr. 16. And the community showed their support raising a total of $10,000 to help the co-owners of Renegades Diner get their doors open again soon.

The severe weather that passed through the village on the morning of Mach 28 caused a series of unfortunate events to occur including damage to Renegades Diner that forced the restaurant to close for restoration.

Kirsten Harrett and Pete Meades decided that they should do something to help and they were a bit overwhelmed when their idea took off as it provided an outlet for both village residents and businesses, who also wanted to help, a way to contribute. The result was a silent auction with 100 items, a professional skateboard show by The Tidal Records Skate Team (held early afternoon in Agriculture Park) and four live bands performing from 5 p.m. on…The Pixo Control, Gnaeus, ID IOTA, and CONIKA.

“The Ashwood would like to send out a huge thank you to all local businesses and residents for your support for our Renegades Fundraiser. The generosity shown by the Village of Bayfield was overwhelming and we are so glad to be a part of this fantastic community. The village raised over $10,000 in donation money but the emotional support was priceless!” said Harrett.

McDougall and Foley wrote on the Diner’s Facebook Page, “We would like to say thank you to everyone who generously organized, donated and attended the fundraiser at The Ashwood Inn this past Saturday. The skateboarding show and bands were a lot of fun. Our favorite part of the day was getting to connect with people we haven't seen in three weeks. It has definitely renewed our spirits. We can't wait to reopen and start paying forward…”

Luckily the weather cooperated and the silent auction was set up in the parking lot at The Ashwood. Bidders had lots to choose from including a handmade, train birdhouse donated by John Siertsema.

Sandy Scotchmer tests out a bench that was donated to the silent auction just prior to placing a bid.

Wayne McDougall (far right) enjoyed the music of ID IOTA during the fundraiser held for the restaurant he is co-owner of, Renegades Diner, on Saturday evening at The Ashwood Bourbon Bar.

All silent auction items are now at Renegades Diner and they are contacting the highest bidders to claim their prizes and arrange for pick up.

Paula Foley, co-owner of Renegades Diner, visited with people who dropped in to the fundraiser, including, Cal Scotchmer of Bayfield. About 100 items and services were contributed to the silent auction including an antique pine frame mirror donated by Ian and Maggie Dale.

Gayle and Sheridyn Van Altena admire a piece of pottery created and donated by Paula Letheren.

Shannon Brennan and Jennifer Vanderkamp, both of Bayfield, take a closer look at some of the silent auction items.

Dan Linklater, Dustin Goodall and Christian Lemay, along with drummer, Blair St. John (not pictured) comprise the band ID IOTA. They entertained a full house at The Ashwood Bourbon Bar during the fundraising event.

SUBMISSIONS

Nothing makes me happier than watching a full night of HGTV – I love watching other people's home renovations, design and construction projects – and luckily I have a husband that will watch them with me.

I have never had the opportunity to really get into a home renovation, a lot of people would probably say that in itself is lucky, but the idea of getting to do more than just paint and put down flooring really appeals to me. So when I was asked to oversee the little kitchen reno at Camp Klahanie I got quite excited.

I enjoyed working with the carpenter, electricians and volunteers who helped bring our vision to life, and I, along with a couple other members of the Camp Klahanie Friends, have been working this week to get the kitchen organized, and spic and span as campers are coming very soon. I had my label maker out at the camp too to make labels so that we will have a proper place for everything and thus keep everything in its place. Okay, so one thing makes me happier than watching a full night of HGTV and that is getting to use my label maker!

We look forward to holding an Open House at the Camp when everything is ready for viewing, as there are lots of other projects going on as well. Hopefully mid-summer I will send out a personal invitation to you right here. Stay tuned! – Melody

Ideas and contributions to the Bayfield Breeze are always welcome.
Deadlines for submissions are Sundays at 4 p.m.
