After 11 years at the helm of the Glee Sisters Choir, Leslie Bella is hanging up her baton.

Since she arrived in Huron County in 2005, Bella has been helping area residents to find their musical voices. She moved to Bayfield from St. John's, Newfoundland after retiring from Memorial University where she was a Professor of Social Work. A talented musician who plays several instruments, Bella has always had a love of choral music. As she got to know people in her new home, she encountered many women who shared her love of music, but didn't feel they had the talent or confidence to 'sing out loud'. So, 11 years ago, she began inviting women to come together to sing. They started in each other's living rooms but as more and more women joined a move was made to a local church which allows the Glees to use the space on Friday afternoons.

The Glees remain a choir that doesn't how auditions - in other words, no one who wishes to participate has to 'prove' their singing skills. All who wish to take part are welcome to join. Through her organizational skills, Bella has developed a musical sisterhood in which members not only support the community but freely support each other through joyful, creative self-expression. Choir members have been encouraged to expand their musical abilities by participating in arranging and directing pieces, adding various instruments and percussion and singing solos.

As well as providing encouragement and leadership to fledgling choir members, the Glees have been 'paying it forward' by entertaining audiences around the county. In 2016, under her guidance, the Glees performed at the Goderich Day Center, Goderich Place and Harbour Hills Retirement Community. Also, in 2016, the Glees held their fifth annual Earth Hour concert in Bayfield. The Earth Hour concerts not only highlighted the need to look after Mother Earth but raise thousands of dollars to plant trees in Bayfield.

The Glee Sisters have also delighted dozens of area children and the young at heart with their annual musical Christmas plays featuring popular children's books, such as "Charlie Brown's Christmas" and "The Polar Express". Bella is currently working on "How the Grinch Stole

CELTIC ROOTS

Due to a special arrangement with the Goderich Celtic Roots Festival, we are able to see one of their award winning acts here in Bayfield each year, hosted by the Bayfield Town Hall Heritage Society. This year, this Celtic Concert will take place on Aug. 7, the Civic Holiday Monday, and will feature Matthew Byrne.

The concert will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Bayfield Town Hall.

Born into a family of Newfoundland music makers, Byrne's repertoire is heavily influenced by that unique musical lineage – the weaving of a great story with a beautiful melody – and he supports this tradition with powerful vocals, polished guitar work and a presence that fills the room. His repertoire transcends time and place and his live performance reminds listeners how satisfying traditional songs can be when stripped down to their basic elements.

"Matt's interpretation of traditional songs is somehow fresh and ancient at the same time. And his voice is friggin' perfect," said Alan Doyle, the lead singer of Canadian folk rock band Great Big Sea.

Byrne will release his highly anticipated third album, "Horizon Lines" on Aug. 11. This newest collection of traditional material explores a unique repertoire of songs from both sides of the Atlantic and continues Christmas" for 2017. Last year, holiday performances were held in Bayfield and Goderich with admission being a donation of food or money for the local food bank. The Glees also sang in the Ritual of Remembrance of the Dec. 6 Montreal Massacre in Goderich for the eighth year in a row.

In addition to her work with the Glee Sisters, Bella performed for several years with the Goderich Laketown Band. She has also reached out to people who wanted to play together in a musical ensemble but, as with the Glee singers, weren't necessarily confident about their abilities. She formed the 'Elliotts Liquidation Band' (named because some of the participants purchased their instruments at the store in Clinton) and encouraged the members to try their hands at music ranging from folk tunes to classical pieces from the Baroque period. Elliotts' has morphed into a new group called 'And then there were Three'. These ensembles have hosted backyard picnic concerts and in-house Christmas concerts in 2016.

Bella has contributed to the community by creating spaces that include people of varying abilities and encouraging them to explore their musical interests and talents, which has ultimately enriched the cultural ethos of Huron County.

Since Bella is saying goodbye to the Glees in December of this year, the choir members are now on the hunt for a new director for this voluntary position.

The requirements are someone who is strong musically and a patient, strong leader of a group of mature women of various skill levels. The Glees are an all women choir that meets Friday afternoons for 1.5 hours.

For more information or to discuss this please call Arlene Timmins at 519-565-2777.

OUR NATURE, OUR CANADA

Young people in this area are learning about Canada's water, plants, and animals through a one-hour program at local libraries.

The Ausable Bayfield Conservation Authority (ABCA) hosted the Our Nature, Our Canada program at Clinton and Zurich libraries on July 18, 2017. Conservation educators will continue the program at the Seaforth library on Aug. 8, at 2 p.m.; at the libraries in Bayfield and Goderich on Thursday, Aug. 10 (Goderich at 11:30 a.m. and Bayfield at 2 p.m.); and at the Hensall Library on Aug. 15 at 2 p.m. The Our Nature, Our Canada program is for young people age five to 12 and registration is required.

This new nature education program encourages children and youth to celebrate Canada during the 150th anniversary year of Canadian Confederation. ABCA Staff will bring special guest Morris the Beaver (a taxidermied beaver) and other iconic symbols of Canada's nature.

"Those who attend find out about the magnificent and abundant natural resources found in Canada including water, plants and animals," said Denise Iszczuk with ABCA.

Those taking part get to make a Maple Leaf window decal that helps to prevent birds from striking windows.

Community donations to the Ausable Bayfield Conservation Foundation have supported several of these library visits as well as other nature education programs.

Volume 8

There are countless photographs of people in the Bayfield Historical Society's Archives collection, but sadly their names were never recorded. In this section we will showcase an image with the hopes that one of our subscribers might be able to identify the individual(s) in the photo. Please email your information to the Editor's attention at the address listed near the bottom of the page in "Submissions" or you can email the archivist directly at bayarchives@tcc.on.ca or click on the image and make a comment on Flickr.

Editor's Note: We are now adding the archive's code to the information supplied with the photographs so that if anyone would like to learn more from the Bayfield Archives about certain pictures they can use the code to make the process easier.

This week, we feature a picture recorded to include Mrs McLeod, Aunt Violet, and Jill taken on June 26, 1944. Does anyone remember them? (Archives Code: PB10091 PC)

In Issue 416, we feature a photo taken around 1920 of Mrs Thomas Bailey, Leslie Frost, and Thomas Bailey. Does anyone remember them? (Archives Code: PB10015 PC)

Doug Darnbrough wrote in with some reminisces about Tom and Martha (Ritz) Bailey after seeing their photograph in Issue 416. He also shared some memories about some other Main Street characters. The following are his thoughts:

“I remember Tom Bailey and his wife very well. In 1958-59 I delivered the London Free Press to their home at that time which was the new Ritz Hotel. (The Virtural High School today.) The Free Press was five cents per weekday and a dime for Saturday...thirty-five cents a week.

“Mr. Bailey had a large chicken coop directly behind the hotel and the chicken wire yard ran to the next street behind the Ritz. It did not seem out of place to raise chickens on main street Bayfield back then.

“Across the road the Little Inn was the private residence of George Little who was the town cop.

“From the front step of the Ritz you could hear Ernie Hovey, owner of Hovey’s General Store and Post Office hand cancelling the mail. When the banging of his ink stained cancelling hammer stopped and it was finally quiet you knew he was about to open the wicket and at this point Ernie would hand the mail out the wicket to the same 10 or 12 people who waited every morning inside the post office for the wicket to open.”

In Issue 421, we feature an image recorded to be of Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Metcalf, Jessie and William taken around 1916. Does anyone remember them?

THE MAN IN BLACK TAKES TO TOWN HALL STAGE

Marty Allen as Johnny Cash took to the stage of the Bayfield Town Hall on July 29 with his band the Cadillac Cowboys.

PHOTOS BY JACK PAL

The Bayfield Town Hall Heritage Society (BTHHS) hosted another tribute performance, on July 29. This time Southern Ontario artist, Marty Allen, helped those in attendance celebrate the music of the legendary Johnny Cash.

Allen was named after the late Marty Robbins and weaned on Sun Record artists Elvis Presley and Cash.

He believes that “Honky-tonk and Rockabilly music is as much about life as it is about music”.

“It was a simple sound, yet energetic and commanding,” said Allen, who received his first guitar at the age of eight. Although not musicians themselves, his parents possessed a real love for music. “There was always music playing in the house and Sunday mornings we would hear the gospel music crackling from the hi-fi.”

Allen went on to form his own band, the Cadillac Cowboys, with Dave Tufford, electric guitar; Cory Richardson, upright bass; and Mike McDowell, drums. He has released five independent albums: “Daybreak’s Coming”, “Marty Allen”, “Living Life”,

Cory Richardson, upright bass; with Marty Allen.

SUBMISSIONS

I subscribe to the World Wildlife Federation (WWF) newsletter and learned from it that today, Aug. 2, 2017, is Earth Overshoot Day.

This is the day that humans "have used more from nature than our planet can renew in the whole year."

"We use more ecological resources and services than nature can regenerate through overfishing, overharvesting forests, and emitting more carbon dioxide into the atmosphere than forests can sequester."

And according to the newsletter Earth Overshoot Day happens earlier and earlier every year.

How can one person do anything to reverse the trend? I encourage you to join me in visiting the website linked in the newsletter www.overshootday.org and learn more. – Melody

Ideas and contributions to the Bayfield Breeze are always welcome.
Deadlines for submissions are Sundays at 4 p.m.
